

Understanding and Engaging with Couple Dance through a Systemic Intergenerational Approach

Trainer

Ms. Winnie Ng

Certified Counsellor and Associate Fellow of the Hong Kong Professional Counselling Association

Winnie is a counsellor with over 20 years of experience, specialising in marital and family counselling. She has worked extensively with couples facing challenges such as infidelity, communication breakdowns, and family-of-origin issues. In addition to individual counselling, Winnie has developed therapeutic groups and programmes to support couples and divorced families. She also provides clinical supervision to professionals in both corporate and community settings.

Winnie has served as a part-time lecturer, teaching subjects including Marital Therapy, Counselling Theories, Working with Emotions, and Self-enrichment Workshops. Her dedication to field education was recognised with the Exemplary Field Instruction Award from the Department of Social Work at CUHK in 2017.

This workshop explores couple relationships through a systemic and intergenerational lens, emphasising how family history and contemporary challenges shape the “couple dance.” Through critical reflection on societal and personal values around marriage, participants will enhance their capacity to integrate these insights into meaningful and effective clinical interventions.

Content

- Understanding how family history shapes intimate relationships (vertical perspective) and how contemporary contexts challenge the couple bond (horizontal perspective)
- Understanding couple dance through a systemic transgenerational lens - using genograms in couple intervention for healing of individual childhood experience
- Containing couples' fragility in the midst of infidelity and facilitating couples to break through their old patterns from childhood
- Helping the couple to build a solid new self if they decide to separate or divorce
